Kohl to manage the marketing and sales efforts of Crossflo DataExchange® Platform and Related Services

SAN DIEGO – January 20, 2009 – Crossflo Systems, Inc. (www.crossflo.com) a Patriot Scientific company (OTC BB: PTSC) announced today that it has appointed Gloria C. Kohl as senior vice president of sales and marketing. Kohl will lead the sales efforts of the justice and public safety team as well as the healthcare group.

Kohl has over 25 years experience in sales and marketing, with nearly a decade in the justice and public safety software sector. She was most recently the vice president of sales and client services at SpireLine Systems, Inc., providing mobile field reporting software to public safety departments. Ms. Kohl will manage the marketing and sales efforts of both the standards-based Crossflo DataExchange® platform and related services, as well as build the client base for the newly acquired Iameter portfolio of data analysis products that assess quality of care delivery for hospitals and physician groups.

“In a world where rapid, secure, scalable, customer-controlled information sharing is becoming mission critical, our data exchange products and services are increasingly essential,” noted Kohl. “I look forward to helping our customers understand and access these solutions.”
